The higher the responsibility for quality and safety an individual in the company carries, the more important they are, and the more the useful suggestions of that individual are taken into account.

CARE FOR SAFETY AND HEALTH AT WORK

Each worker is primarily responsible for their own safety and health at work.

We observe the applicable legislation in the field of health and fire safety and in accordance with the program, we theoretically and practically train employed workers for safe work and fire safety. When determining measurements for risk control we take into account the measurement hierarchy, like: exchange-replacement, technical methods, signs-warnings, administrative methods and personal protection means.

The realization of the quality policy and ensuring safety at work, which is accessible to the public is the responsibility of everyone at their work and the obligation of all the employees in the company.

The management is personally obliged and expects the employees to realize the policy within the framework of the responsibilities and tasks and the moral principles.
